

paraspar

prSpr A FORUM FOR RASIKAS

CEPT University . Gujarati Sahitya Parishad

Ahmedabad has been a city famous for its institutions, both academic and cultural. Of late, a need has been felt to have a forum where interested persons, rasikas, could come together and enjoy works of art in all its forms and share their enthusiasm with like minded individuals. Also, it was felt that an appropriate and welcoming forum was necessary which could present an opportunity for other interested individuals, especially the younger generation, to introduce themselves to such works. In order to provide a platform to share, enjoy, and create interest and appreciation in the arts, starting with the literary arts, CEPT University in association with Gujarati Sahitya Parishad announces a unique forum – Paraspar.

Paraspar sets forth with the aim of celebrating the spirit of literature beyond the boundaries of language and culture. The aim of the forum is to discover together the beauty and spirit of the most celebrated literary works from India and abroad, across time and engage in dialogues to understand and appreciate the same.

The event will be conducted in an interactive baithak format allowing interested participants to either participate actively in the dialogues and discussions or benefit passively with equal levels of comfort. An invited speaker with his team, in keeping with our aim, will specially conceptualise the presentation of the work and will try to introduce the work and bring out its specialities in a manner that is interesting and appreciable – both by the first-timer or the informed rasika.

The offerings visualised at the moment include Classics in the Indian Languages, Classics in European and English Literature, Indian Literature of the Middle Ages, Indian Literary Masters, and Modern and Contemporary World Literature.

We hope to document the proceedings as text and/or audio and video recordings which will be made available to all through a website which will be further enriched with articles and critiques by participants. We hope the presence on the web to become a community resource for interested persons allowing for the dialogues and discussions to continue even after the event itself is over and to share further references and links.

The event is open to all and will take place on Friday, once every month at 6:00 pm at the CEPT University campus with a duration of 60 to 90 minutes. To further enrich the event, additional relevant material like books and photocopies of articles will be made available at the venue for purchase.

As we progress, we look forward to incorporating valuable suggestions of works, themes and speakers from our participants. Over time, Paraspar aims to move beyond literature to cover interdisciplinary topics and all the other arts and creative pursuits of mankind.

We look forward to having you with us.

CORE COMMITTEE

Sharmila Sagara

CEPT University

Co-ordinator

Rajendra Patel

Gujarati Sahitya Parishad

Pavni Pandya

CEPT University

Mona Khakkar

CEPT University

Bhakti Vaishnav

CEPT University

Asha Joshi

CEPT University

Anand Ramakrishnan

CEPT University

Mithun Khandwala

English Language Teachers'

Association of India

Please e-mail us at paraspar@cept.ac.in or call us at the numbers provided below for more information or any other queries you may have.

---

CEPT University

Kasturbhai Lalbhai Campus

University Road, Navrangpura

Ahmedabad 380 009. GUJARAT

Tel: +91 (79) 2630 2470, 2630 2740

Gujarati Sahitya Parishad

Govardhan Bhavan, behind Times of India

Ashram Road, Ahmedabad 380 006. GUJARAT

Tel: +91 (79) 2658 9747